INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE AND STRATEGIES

Franklin Bissett Canadian Short Term Bond Fund (the "Fund") aims to provide high current income and capital preservation by investing primarily in Canadian fixed income securities, including federal and provincial government and corporate bonds, debentures and short-term notes.

To reduce reinvestment risk and improve liquidity, the Fund's portfolio advisor (the "portfolio manager") ladders bond maturities. The Fund invests primarily in investment-grade bonds but may invest up to 15% of Fund assets in lower-rated issues. The Fund may also invest a portion of assets in mortgage-backed securities or other asset-backed securities or dividend-paying shares of Canadian companies. The Fund has an average weighted term to maturity of five years or less.

Franklin Bissett's fixed income team makes decisions for each Franklin Bissett fixed income fund based on a combination of macro-level research and analysis and security-level research. This conservative income approach results in fully diversified portfolios characterized by lower downside risk, relative to their peer group, and attractive yield characteristics. Within the Franklin Bissett fixed income lineup, investors may choose from funds with mandates ranging from an emphasis on tax-advantaged income to a focus on capital preservation and interest income.

RISK

The risks of investing in this Fund remain as stated in the prospectus. The Fund is suitable for conservative investors seeking regular income and low investment risk, and who are planning to hold their investment for a short to medium term. Due to the Fund's fixed income focus, interest rate risk remains the primary risk for the Fund.

RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

As at December 31, 2017, total net asset value of the Fund was $440.9 million, an increase of 9.1% from December 31, 2016. This was primarily driven by $29.2 million in net subscriptions and an increase of $8.0 million in net assets from operations. The Fund paid out $251,000 in cash distributions to unitholders.

During the past year, the Fund's Series A units generated total returns of 0.7%. Over the same time period, the Fund's benchmark, the FTSE TMX Canada Short Term Overall Bond Index (the "Index"), returned 0.1%, in Canadian-dollar terms. The performance of the Fund's other series is similar to that of its Series A units, except for differences in expense structure. For the return of the Fund's other series (if applicable), please refer to the "Past Performance" section.

Yield-curve and duration positioning were the primary drivers of the Fund's strong relative performance, contributing 80 basis points (bps) to relative returns. This was due to the Fund's underweighted exposure to two-year bonds and slightly overweighted position in 10-year bonds in a flattening yield-curve environment. The Fund's shorter-than-Index duration positioning also helped performance, as short-term yields increased. Interest rate swap positions also contributed, as 10-year swap spreads widened over the period.

Security selection contributed 76 bps to relative performance over the year. This was largely due to outperformance of the Fund's investment-grade financial and investment-grade energy bonds.

Asset allocation contributed 66 bps to relative performance, primarily owing to overweighted positions in federal bonds and Canadian high-yield bonds.

Foreign-currency positioning detracted 20 bps from relative performance, as the US dollar depreciated against the Canadian dollar. Small positions in the Australian dollar and British pound added marginally to relative performance.

Pricing and residual factors detracted 5 bps from relative performance.

It is important to note that the Fund's return reflects the effect of fees and expenses for professional management, while the Index does not have such costs. Gross of fees, the Fund returned 2.1%.

Average net assets of the series of the Fund that bear expenses have decreased for the year ended December 31, 2017. This has resulted in a corresponding decrease in expenses. Income received from investments held, excluding net realized and/or unrealized gain (loss) on investments and derivatives, increased due to the results of the Fund's investment activities, including, but not limited to, those previously discussed for the period in review.

RECENT DEVELOPMENTS

Global central bank liquidity will likely continue to support financial markets and suppress volatility for another quarter, though at a reduced pace. The portfolio managers believe that earnings growth and stimulus from recent tax cuts will further contribute over the first half of 2018. The portfolio managers expect support will be slowly eroded over the year given shifts in central bank policy ending ultra-loose global monetary policy and the benefits from tax cuts peaking.

The US Federal Reserve (Fed) began to normalize its balance sheet during the fourth quarter in small initial increments, which will double to US$20 billion/month in the first quarter of 2018. This amount is manageable, from a market perspective. However, the pace will accelerate during 2018 so that by year end, the Fed will have removed a substantial portion of the purchases made during the first round of quantitative easing, representing a meaningful tightening of policy. This could be a catalyst for higher volatility.

While core inflation may be increasing in both Canada and the United States, global disinflation remains the overarching theme. Therefore, the portfolio managers expect that inflation will remain benign over the upcoming quarter. The portfolio managers also expect that the Fed will raise rates later in the year after the change in Fed leadership is solidified. As a result, following a near-term steepening, the US yield curve should flatten.

In Canada, the portfolio managers see a significant amount of good news priced in to both yields, especially short rates, and the Canadian dollar. Short rates are near their 6.5-year peak, and the Canadian yield curve has not been this flat since late 2007. Negative surprises should lead to the unwinding of a portion of the recent currency trend, likely steepening the yield curve in the process.

Relative to global interest rates, the North American fixed income markets continue to offer some of the highest yields across developed markets, making them an attractive destination for capital. This mitigates the likelihood of large and sustained moves higher in yield.

The portfolio managers remain constructive on credit and expect credit spreads will continue to tighten. Canadian investment-grade credit “spread-as-a-percentage-of-yield” will likely continue to shrink, but still provide an acceptable cushion against any sharp increase in government rates. The portfolio managers continue to look for opportunities to reduce risk and upgrade credit quality, while capitalizing on trading opportunities.

FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

Investors should take note that certain statements in this report about a fund, including its strategy and expected future performance, are forward-looking. Forward-looking statements are statements that are predictive in nature, depend upon or refer to future events or conditions, or that include words such as “may,” “will,” “should,” “could,” “expect,” “anticipate,” “intend,” “plan,” “believe,” or “estimate” or other similar expressions. Any statement that is made concerning future strategies or performance is also a forward-looking statement. Statements that look forward in time or include anything other than historical information are subject to risks and uncertainties, and actual results, actions or events could differ materially from those set forth in the forward-looking statements.

The forward-looking statements are by their nature based on numerous assumptions, which include, amongst other things, that (i) the Fund can attract and maintain investors and has sufficient capital under management to effect its investment strategies, (ii) the investment strategies will produce the results intended by the portfolio manager, and (iii) the markets will react and perform in a manner consistent with the investment strategies. Although the forward-looking statements contained herein are based upon what the portfolio manager believes to be reasonable assumptions, the portfolio manager cannot assure that actual results will be consistent with these forward-looking statements.

Forward-looking statements are not guarantees of future performance. Any number of factors could contribute to differing results, including, among other things, general economic, political and market factors, interest and foreign exchange rates, global equity and capital markets, business competition, technological change, changes in government regulations, unexpected judicial or regulatory proceedings and catastrophic events. This list of factors is not exhaustive. Investors should not place undue reliance on forward-looking information and should be aware that the Fund may not update any forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise.

In both cases, the standing instructions require the Manager to comply with the policies and procedures presented to the IRC with respect to the above matters and to provide periodic reports to the IRC in accordance with NI 81-107.

MANAGEMENT FEES

A portion of the management fee paid by the Fund to the Manager is for trail fees and sales commissions the Manager pays to dealers (“Dealer Compensation”). The remaining portion of the management fee is used to pay for portfolio advisory and administrative services related to the provision of portfolio advisory services. The table below outlines the Fund’s annual management fee, as well as the portion of the management fee used to pay for Dealer Compensation and for portfolio advisory services as an approximate percentage of the management fee for each series:

NOTES TO FINANCIAL HIGHLIGHTS

Net Assets per Unit:

- (1) This information is derived from the Fund's audited annual financial statements. In the period a fund or series is established, the financial information is provided from the date of inception to the end of the period. In cases where the net assets per unit presented in the financial statements differ from the net asset value calculated for Fund pricing purposes, an explanation of these differences can be found in the notes to the financial statements.
- (2) Net assets and distributions are based on the actual number of units outstanding at the relevant time. The increase/decrease in net assets from operations is based on the weighted average number of units outstanding over the fiscal period. This table is not intended to be a reconciliation of opening and closing net assets per unit.
- (3) Distributions were paid in cash or reinvested in additional units of the Fund or both, and exclude distributions of management fee reductions to unitholders.

Ratios and Supplemental Data:

- (1) This information is provided as at the period-end of the year shown.
- (2) Management expense ratio is based on total expenses for the stated period and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period.
- (3) The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio manager manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling each security in its portfolio once in the course of the relevant period. The higher the portfolio turnover rate in the period, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of the Fund.

OTHER FUND INFORMATION

Reported year-by-year returns for past years may be revised, based on the results of recalculations, audits and/or other historical review processes. Such revisions are considered immaterial to performance disclosure unless otherwise stated.

Series I and V, as applicable, are presently capped (closed to new investors). Investors who currently own units of Series I and Series V may continue to purchase additional units in those series. These series may become available for purchase by new investors at the discretion of the Manager.
