RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

As at June 30, 2018, total net asset value of the Fund was $226.7 million, an increase of 11.5% from December 31, 2017. This was primarily driven by $22.1 million in net subscriptions and an increase of $1.4 million in net assets from operations. The Fund paid or made payable $81,000 in cash distributions to unitholders.

During the past six months, Franklin Bissett Money Market Fund Series A units generated total returns of 0.4%. The performance of the Fund's other series is similar to that of its Series A units, except for differences in expense structure. For the return of the Fund's other series (if applicable), please refer to the "Past Performance" section.

The year began in Canada on a relatively robust economic footing. Economic data continued the trend from 2017 and continued to beat expectations. Against this backdrop, the Bank of Canada (BoC) raised its overnight rate by 25 basis points (bps) at its January meeting. The market had fully priced this move by the BoC after the December employment number posted a huge 78,600 increase on January 5, in addition to a revised increase for November to 81,200 jobs. After the rate hike, in its exuberance the market at its peak priced in almost four further hikes in 2018. However, as the year progressed, economic data began to miss heightened expectations and moderated to the point that only two further hikes were priced by the end of the first half of the year.

Government of Canada Treasury Bill (T-Bill) yields rose over the quarter, with one-year T-Bills starting the year at 1.5% and ending the first half at 1.69%. Canadian corporate paper outperformed T-bills over the period. The spread of three-month bankers' acceptances (BAs) over three-month T-Bills started the period at 43 bps and ended at 42 bps, with BAs benefitting from higher carry over the term. One-year BAs performed better than their three-month counterparts on a relative basis, with the spread compressing by 4 bps, from 37 bps to 33 bps. Performance for provincial paper deviated from corporate and underperformed T-bills. At the start of the year, the spread on provincial paper over T-bills was relatively tight at 9 bps in the three-month term and 11bps in the one-year term. It widened over the term to 25 bps in the three-month and 19 bps in the one-year. The portfolio manager continued to invest in corporate and provincial issues when deemed attractive and maintained a relatively high corporate exposure throughout the period.

The Fund invests in high-quality short-term paper with a minimum Dominion Bond Rating Service rating of R1-low, and short corporate bonds (less than 365 days to maturity) with investment-grade ratings, as well as government and corporate floating rate notes. The Fund generally maintains an average term of 70–90 days and does not employ an active interest-rate-anticipation strategy. At period-end, the average term to maturity was approximately 83 days.

Average net assets of the series of the Fund that bear expenses have decreased for the six months ended June 30, 2018. This has resulted in a corresponding decrease in expenses. Income received from investments held increased due to the results of the Funds' investment activities, including, but not limited to, those previously discussed for the period in review.

RECENT DEVELOPMENTS

Global trade tensions have moved front and centre. The United States has implemented tariffs against most of its trading partners, who in turn have fired back with countervailing tariffs on US exports. What began in February as rhetoric around steel and aluminum trade has since transformed into a full-blown trade war.

With improved global growth, global central banks have sought to reduce monetary stimulus and normalize interest rates. On July 11, the Bank of Canada (BoC) raised its overnight lending rate for the second time this year, to a rate of 1.50%. The BoC cited a stronger US economy, higher oil prices, strong global demand and a Canadian economy operating close to capacity in its rationale. The Bank's previous concerns regarding housing market weakness have diminished as it sees the market beginning to stabilize. The BoC's statement closed by saying it expected that "higher interest rates will be warranted to keep inflation near target" and indicated that further moves would be data-dependent and gradual.

Canadian money markets had little reaction to the BoC's announcement, with Canadian Treasury Bills closing only one basis point higher. The markets are priced for a 60% chance of another rate hike by the end of the year. The portfolio manager believes that this is consistent with the BoC's message and expects another 25-basis point hike near the end of the year.

FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

Investors should take note that certain statements in this report about a fund, including its strategy and expected future performance, are forward-looking. Forward-looking statements are statements that are predictive in nature, depend upon or refer to future events or conditions, or that include words such as "may," "will," "should," "could," "expect," "anticipate," "intend," "plan," "believe," or "estimate" or other similar expressions. Any statement that is made concerning future strategies or performance is also a forward-looking statement. Statements that look forward in time or include anything other than historical information are subject to risks and uncertainties, and actual results, actions or events could differ materially from those set forth in the forward-looking statements.

The forward-looking statements are by their nature based on numerous assumptions, which include, amongst other things, that (i) the Fund can attract and maintain investors and has sufficient capital under management to effect its investment strategies, (ii) the investment strategies will produce the results intended by the portfolio manager, and (iii) the markets will react and perform in a manner consistent with the investment strategies. Although the forward-looking statements contained herein are based upon what the portfolio manager believes to be reasonable assumptions, the portfolio manager cannot assure that actual results will be consistent with these forward-looking statements.

Forward-looking statements are not guarantees of future performance. Any number of factors could contribute to differing results, including, among other things, general economic, political and market factors, interest and foreign exchange rates, global equity and capital markets, business competition, technological change, changes in government regulations, unexpected judicial or regulatory proceedings and catastrophic events. This list of factors is not exhaustive. Investors should not place undue reliance on forward-looking information and should be aware that the Fund may not update any forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise.

The Manager relied on standing instructions from the IRC with respect to the allocation of any operating expenses not covered by the Administration Fee. The Manager relied, or may rely, on standing instructions from the IRC in respect of securities trades amongst mutual funds, investment funds or managed accounts managed by the Manager or an affiliate of the Manager. In both cases, the standing instructions require the Manager to comply with the policies and procedures presented to the IRC with respect to the above matters and to provide periodic reports to the IRC in accordance with NI 81-107.

MANAGEMENT FEES

A portion of the management fee paid by the Fund to the Manager is for trail fees and sales commissions the Manager pays to dealers (“Dealer Compensation”). The trail fees are a percentage of the daily average net asset value of each series of the Fund, which is held by the dealer’s clients. The remaining portion of the management fee is used to pay for portfolio advisory and administrative services related to the provision of portfolio advisory services. The table below outlines the Fund’s annual management fee, as well as the portion of the management fee used to pay for Dealer Compensation and for portfolio advisory services as an approximate percentage of the management fee for each series:

- Next C$2.5 million to under $5 million—0.35%
- C$5 million and over—0.25%

Certain institutional investors may negotiate the management and administration fees by written agreement with Franklin Templeton Investments.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL HIGHLIGHTS

Net Assets per Unit:

- (1) This information is derived from the Fund's unaudited interim financial statements and audited annual financial statements. In the period a fund or series is established, the financial information is provided from the date of inception to the end of the period. In cases where the net assets per unit presented in the financial statements differ from the net asset value calculated for Fund pricing purposes, an explanation of these differences can be found in the notes to the financial statements.
- (2) Net assets and distributions are based on the actual number of units outstanding at the relevant time. The increase/decrease in net assets from operations is based on the weighted average number of units outstanding over the fiscal period. This table is not intended to be a reconciliation of opening and closing net assets per unit.
- (3) Distributions were paid in cash or reinvested in additional units of the Fund or both, and exclude distributions of management fee reductions to unitholders.

Ratios and Supplemental Data:

- (1) This information is provided as at the period-end of the year shown.
- (2) Management expense ratio is based on total expenses for the stated period and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period.
