RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

As at June 30, 2018, total net asset value of the Fund was $21.2 million, a decrease of 9.5% from December 31, 2017. This was primarily driven by $1.9 million in net redemptions and a decrease of $191,000 in net assets from operations. The Fund paid or made payable $166,000 in cash distributions to unitholders.

During the past six months, the Fund's Series A units generated total returns of -1.0%. Over the same time period, the Fund's benchmark, the Credit Suisse High Yield Index (the "Index"), returned 0.2%, in US-dollar terms. The Fund's primary benchmark is the US-dollar version of the Index, to better reflect the way the Fund is managed with respect to currency. The performance of the Fund's other series is similar to that of its Series A units, except for differences in expense structure. For the return of the Fund's other series (if applicable), please refer to the "Past Performance" section. Industry allocation, ratings-quality tilt, foreign currency exposure and local market allocation detracted from relative performance, while yield-curve positioning contributed.

The portfolio manager remains focused on bottom-up security selection, seeking companies with relatively strong fundamentals. Regarding industry allocation, although the portfolio manager believes existing challenges in the retail, media, telecommunications and health care industries could continue, the portfolio manager remains constructive on the high-yield (HY) asset class and expects a majority of HY issuers to continue to post decent earnings that are within market consensus expectations. The portfolio manager believes the risk to the HY market for the remainder of the year could tilt more towards technically driven conditions, rather than fundamentals. Negative technical conditions from flattening foreign investor demand as hedging costs rose have been countered by limited HY supply thus far. Should HY supply pick up during the latter half of the year, however, HY valuations could be pressured. Furthermore, US Treasury rate movements that are beyond market consensus expectations could also cause additional technical pressure on HY valuations. Overall, the portfolio manager believes positive HY fundamentals can continue and spreads could trend tighter, absent market surprises.

Index performance comparison information is provided for reference only. It is important to note that the Fund's return reflects the effect of fees and expenses for professional management, while an index does not have such costs.

Average net assets of the series of the Fund that bear expenses have decreased for the six months ended June 30, 2018. This has resulted in a corresponding decrease in expenses. Income received from investments held, excluding net realized and/or unrealized gain (loss) on investments and derivatives, as applicable, decreased due to the results of the Fund's investment activities, including, but not limited to, those previously discussed for the period in review.

RECENT DEVELOPMENTS

Following financial market volatility in April and May, US President Donald Trump's trade talks continued to be a major source of uncertainty for market participants during June. Despite bouts of heightened volatility during the second quarter, the portfolio manager maintains a constructive outlook on the HY market. The bulk of HY issuers remain largely US companies conducting US businesses; therefore, the portfolio manager believes direct impacts from trade tensions on HY companies should be fairly limited at this point. The portfolio manager believes trade-related uncertainties are more relevant to what trade tensions could do to the economy in general, rather than HY issuers at this stage. Trade stresses aside, fundamentals and the overall macroeconomic picture remain in good shape. The portfolio manager remains hopeful that uncertainties stemming from proposed US tariffs will not derail the economy and believes that as long as interest rates are rising and US Treasury yields increase in an orderly and gradual manner, HY spreads could withstand and even partially offset steady US Treasury increases. In light of potential challenges for the remainder of 2018, the portfolio manager remains focused on credit selection.

FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

Investors should take note that certain statements in this report about a fund, including its strategy and expected future performance, are forward-looking. Forward-looking statements are statements that are predictive in nature, depend upon or refer to future events or conditions, or that include words such as "may," "will," "should," "could," "expect," "anticipate," "intend," "plan," "believe," or "estimate" or other similar expressions. The forward-looking statements are by their nature based on numerous assumptions, which include, amongst other things, that (i) the Fund can attract and maintain investors and has sufficient capital under management to effect its investment strategies, (ii) the investment strategies will produce the results intended by the portfolio manager, and (iii) the markets will react and perform in a manner consistent with the investment strategies. Although the forward-looking statements contained herein are based upon what the portfolio manager believes to be reasonable assumptions, the portfolio manager cannot assure that actual results will be consistent with these forward-looking statements.

Forward-looking statements are not guarantees of future performance. Any number of factors could contribute to differing results, including, among other things, general economic, political and market factors, interest and foreign exchange rates, global equity and capital markets, business competition, technological change, changes in government regulations, unexpected judicial or regulatory proceedings and catastrophic events. This list of factors is not exhaustive. Investors should not place undue reliance on forward-looking information and should be aware that the Fund may not update any forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise.

The Manager will pay all operating expenses of Series O and OT, as applicable, as part of its agreement with each investor. MANAGEMENT FEES

A portion of the management fee paid by the Fund to the Manager is for trail fees and sales commissions the Manager pays to dealers (“Dealer Compensation”). The trail fees are a percentage of the daily average net asset value of each series of the Fund, which is held by the dealer’s clients. The remaining portion of the management fee is used to pay for portfolio advisory and administrative services related to the provision of portfolio advisory services. The table below outlines the Fund’s annual management fee, as well as the portion of the management fee used to pay for Dealer Compensation and for portfolio advisory services as an approximate percentage of the management fee for each series:

Series	Management Fee (%)	Dealer Compensation (%)*	Investment management, investment management expenses, and other (%)
A	1.25	67.40	32.60
F	0.75	–	100.00
I	1.15	44.14	55.86
PF	0.70	–	100.00

*Dealer compensation may include other fees related to distribution, which are not payable directly to dealers.

The management and administration fees for Series O are paid for by the unitholder directly to the Manager as follows:

- Next C$2.5 million to under $5 million—0.70%

NOTES TO FINANCIAL HIGHLIGHTS

Net Assets per Unit:

- (1) This information is derived from the Fund's unaudited interim financial statements and audited annual financial statements. In the period a fund or series is established, the financial information is provided from the date of inception to the end of the period. In cases where the net assets per unit presented in the financial statements differ from the net asset value calculated for Fund pricing purposes, an explanation of these differences can be found in the notes to the financial statements.
- (2) Net assets and distributions are based on the actual number of units outstanding at the relevant time. The increase/decrease in net assets from operations is based on the weighted average number of units outstanding over the fiscal period. This table is not intended to be a reconciliation of opening and closing net assets per unit.
- (3) Distributions were paid in cash or reinvested in additional units of the Fund or both, and exclude distributions of management fee reductions to unitholders.

Ratios and Supplemental Data:

- (1) This information is provided as at the period-end of the year shown.
- (2) Management expense ratio is based on total expenses for the stated period and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period.
- (3) The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of net asset value during the period.
- (4) The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio manager manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling each security in its portfolio once in the course of the relevant period. The higher the portfolio turnover rate in the period, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of the Fund.
